

INTRODUCTION

This report presents information on key social trends in the Rotorua District. Together with Council's economic, environmental and cultural monitoring programmes, the Social Monitor helps paint a picture of changes in social wellbeing.

Data for this report comes from a broad range of sources. The measures have been carefully chosen on the basis of relevance and the availability of data. There are 34 measures in this report. Twenty-one of the 34 measures in the report have been updated this year. Those not updated are either based on census data, or surveys that are not repeated annually.

The measures in this report are set out in Table 1, page 2, with the updated measures highlighted in bold text.

A number of measures in this report can be compared with national data from the New Zealand Social Report (www.socialreport.msd.govt.nz) and with city data from the Big Cities monitoring programme (www.bigcities.govt.nz).

The community's age profile, ethnicity, labour force status and other demographic features are often key determinants of social outcomes. For information on Rotorua's demographic profile refers to other reports available on the Rotorua District Council website (www.rdc.govt.nz, keyword: "publications").
